Resolution Asks Highway Dept. To Reconsider

A concurrent resolution by the Michigan State House of Representatives and the State Senate was passed last month asking the Michigan State Highway Department to reconsider its decision on an interchange at Skyline Road and the soon to be constructed I-75 freeway.

The resolution was first passed by the House and was designated as House Concurrent Resolution No. 302. The Senate then took action and also passed the resolution. It was signed by Eugene B. Farnum, Secretary of the Senate and Thatcher, Clerk of the House.

The Resolution read as follows: "A concurrent resolution requesting the Highway Department to reconsider its decision in regard to an interchange at I-75 and Skyline Road in Crawford County.

Whereas, At public hearings held in July, 1965 on the proposed design of I-75 in Roscommon and Crawford Counties, citizens of both counties raised serious objections to the failure to place an interchange on I-75 at Skyline Road; and

Whereas, Two major expressway systems join at the area involved, commonly called the "Big Wheel-Skyline" area; and

Whereas, Citizens and community organization on twelve different occasions since July, 1965 have made Representations to the Highway Department, its officials and its commissioners; and

Whereas, Over 70% of the acreage in Crawford County is publicly owned and consequently unavailable for commercial, industrial or residential development, imposing dire limitations on the ability to support local government and schools through the general property tax; and

Whereas, it should be the policy of the State of Michigan and every one of its agencies including the Highway Department to foster and encourage the sound economic development of each area under the system of free private enterprise; and

Whereas, Commercial development in Crawford County is limited to three areas: The Village of Fredrick, the City of Grayling and the Big Wheel-Skyline area, the first two of which are presently served by interchanges; and

Whereas, The General Telephone Company is completing a $2,000,000 installation on Skyline Road, thereby creating a stimulus to community development; and

Whereas, Numerous commercial establishments along "old" U. S. 27 will be left to languish on a dead-end road and a similar situation will prevail along M-18 and M-76, thereby seriously reducing if not completely eliminating the taxable valuation of the abutting privately owned properties; and

Whereas, Sites where gasoline, service, food and lodging and recreational activity are available to the traveler on limited access routes are few and far between in Roscommon and Crawford Counties; and

Whereas, This additional service to the traveling public and to the community can be provided at little or no increased expenditure of public funds; now therefore be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That the Highway Commission is respectfully requested to reconsider its determination regarding the establishment of an interchange at I-75 and Skyline Road, and carefully reexamine the hardship proposed by the Highway Commission to inflict on the economic health of the Big Wheel-Skyline area and the small remaining privately owned tax base of Crawford County and its constituent school districts; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to each Highway Commissioner, appropriate Officials of the Highway Department, the Governor, the Commissioner for Economic Development, the Conservation Commission and the State Military Establishment, and to the Chairman of the Board of Supervisors of the affected counties of Crawford and Roscommon.

One Injury Accident Mays 4th Weekend

Only one personal injury accident marred the three day Fourth of July weekend in Crawford County, according to Sheriff Arthur Clough. His department policed several minor property damage accidents but only the single personal injury crash was reported.

That collision took place on the Connors Flats Road in South Branch Township about 6:45 p. m. Sunday night. It was a head-on collision on a curve on the narrow road, Sheriff Clough said. Both cars were reported to be near total wrecks.

Injured were Malcolm J. Elliott Jr., 32, of Warren, the driver of one car and Karen Wylbert, 14, also of Warren, a passenger in the car. Driver of the other vehicle was William J. Malama, 25, of St. Clair Shores who was injured. All three injured people were treated at Grayling Mercy Hospital.

Shortly after noon on Tuesday, Sheriff Clough responded to an accident call on M-72 West of Grayling in Kalkaska County. The Crawford County Sheriff worked traffic control for Kalkaska Sheriff Earl Woodman while he covered the collision.

The wreck took place on the first hill west of the Manistee River. Two cars were in collision as one car was attempting to pass, Sheriff Clough said, both vehicles were completely demolished with two persons very seriously injured. Both were taken to Grayling Mercy Hospital for treatment.

Damaging Blazes Hit Tinder Dry County Forests

Robert Yoder, 51, of Richardson Road east of Grayling was hospitalized Wednesday when a woods fire threatened his home but was released the following day. Mr. Yoder was rushed to the hospital by National Guardsmen after his home was evacuated by them. Mrs. Yoder reported that he has been a heart patient for three years and the excitement may have been too much for him. Several other area families evacuated their homes as a precaution, but none were lost.

The blaze, of unknown origin was reported by the Down River Fire Tower at 11:45 a. m. June 29th. Equipment from Grayling, Conservation Department, the Fish Hatchery, Roscommon, Mio, and Gaylord, the City Fire Department, the Crawford County Road Commission, Camp Grayling, and the sandcaster and boom tanker from the Experimental station were all called into action to control the fire, which consumed an estimated 100 acres. It started in Section 2 of T28N, R3W, on State owned land and burned into Section 1, including some privately owned property, but was kept north of the Richardson Road, entirely. Fire Officer Forrest Annis estimated the fire under control at about 3:15 p. m. Military personnel as well as local volunteers gave their help on the fire and in the mop-up afterwards. Guardsmen and volunteers cleared out the Yoder home of all its furnishings in "just ten minutes," Mrs. Yoder stated, "and not a single item was scratched or damaged in any way." They also assisted in returning the furnishings after the danger was over.

Local equipment was dispatched Thursday morning to help in controlling a fire in Kalkaska County near the C.C.C. Bridge on the Manistee River, in the Military Range, also equipment from Roscommon, the blaze burning an estimated 125 acres. There was also a crown fire in the hardwood section a mile west of the Mortar Range in the afternoon, just into Kalkaska county.

ASRRSRC Reunion

The twelfth annual reunion of the "Ausable River Rats Summer Reunion Crew" (ASRRSRC) was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Druhot at the Ausable River home of her parents, the C. T. Evans, on Sunday, July 3rd.

The ASRRSRC is composed of a group who grew up spending their "silly days" frolicking along the banks of the beautiful Ausable at their parents' summer homes. After college the group became scattered across the vast plains and cities of the shining Midwest and missed getting together in the summer as they had for so many years. The oftentimes tenuous threads of childhood friendship had become Gordian knots and therefore in 1953 the ASRRSRC was formed and the first reunion was held. Since that time the group has been in exorbitant drawn to the Ausable on each Fourth of July weekend to recall the happenings of the past year and to reminisce.

This year's festivities began with the male members of the crew

To Train At Camp Grayling For Seventh Straight Year

COLUMBUS, OHIO — Ohio's 37th Infantry Division arrives this weekend for two weeks of annual summer field training at Camp Grayling, Mich., which is fast becoming its home away from home. This will be the seventh straight year the Buckeye National Guardsmen will conduct their summer training in the tall pines of North-central Michigan, and at least three major differences will be immediately in evidence.

First, the Division will be noticeably smaller—at least 2,000 less than 9,000 who trained at Grayling last summer.

One brigade, a part of the Select Reserve Force, trained earlier this summer at Camp A. P. Hill, Virginia, in line with a directive that all units of top priority complete summer training by June 30. In event of activation, that high-priority brigade would go with Pennsylvania's 28th Infantry Division, not the lower priority Ohio Division.

The second major difference in the 37th this year will be that all units, except Division Artillery, will remain in the main camp area around Lake Margrethe the first week.

In past years, all but a few units moved directly into the field and remained there the entire two weeks.

This year, the second week will be spent all or in part in the field by most units. Division Artillery will remain in the Northeast Camp Grayling area the entire two weeks as it has in past field training periods.

The third major difference in the Ohio Division noticeable to Grayling area residents will be more families accompanying the Guardsmen and more civilian cars driven by them.

The civilian cars have been allotted on a per unit basis, with enlisted men and officers sharing each unit's allotment.

One of the reasons for the civilian cars is that the Division was stripped of several of its vehicles to help bring the high priority brigade up to 100 per cent equipment strength. That brigade, which meets on a stepped up drill schedule, also has 100 per cent of its allotted manpower. The Division has somewhat less.

Still, the division at Camp Grayling will be a self-sustaining unit. It includes its own medical facilities, mess facilities, postal services, church services and the like.

Commanding the 37th for the second summer camp will be Major General Wilbur H. Fricker of Waynesville, near Dayton, whose promotion to major general just became effective.

His assistant commanders are Brigadier Generals William M. Morris of Columbus and George Graf of Findlay. Gen. Graf's promotion from colonel has become effective since the last encampment.

The Division's units will start leaving their 66 Ohio "home" communities Friday night and will begin arriving in the Grayling area over a variety of routes early Saturday morning. They will leave Grayling on July 23 throughout the day.

The military convoys will move into the Grayling area over the same routes as previous years.

One is US-28 to Michigan 76 to US-76 near Standish, Houghton Lake and Grayling. Another is US-20 to US-127 to US-27 around Mt. Pleasant, Harrison and into Grayling. The third is Michigan-43, Michigan 66, Michigan 72 and Michigan 93 through Ionia, Stanton, Kalkaska and on to Grayling.

As last year, training for the Ohio Division this summer will center on small units, including as much guerrilla training as can be inserted.

Numerous aggressor attacks will be inserted to add realism. The Division's Intelligence Section will supervise and plan the aggressor attacks unbeknown in most cases to even the leaders of the unit to be attacked.

By the time the Ohioans leave Grayling, they will have fired every weapon organic to an infantry division except the Honest John Rocket.

A highlight of the training will be the annual Governor's Review, climaxing the first week of training on July 16, Saturday morning at 10. The public once again is invited to attend the full-scale review, at which Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes is expected to review the troops.

Every aspect of the training will be rated once again by regular Army evaluators. The Division will be trying once again to maintain its ratings among the top Reserve and National Guard Divisions in the nation.

HERE JULY 8 - 12

State Medical Society to Bring "Healthmobile" To Grayling

The public is cordially invited to visit the "Healthmobile" to see the story of Michigan medicine when the unique traveling exhibit visits Grayling July 8 through 12 on the Hospital grounds.

The Michigan State Medical Society Healthmobile will tell local adults and children about the exciting Michigan developments in medical research and health care.

The attractive mobile unit—the only one of its kind in the nation—also will seek to interest young people in careers in the health field.

The unit is sponsored by the Medical Society of North Central Counties.

The Healthmobile, a handsome 12 x 50 foot trailer, describes the story of Michigan medicine from the wooden stethoscope of 100 years ago to the gleaming heart and lung machines of today. The slogan, "A Century of Service in Michigan" is developed by colorful, authentic displays that begin with the work of Doctor William Beaumont of Mackinac Island, into the Civil War period, and on through the turn of the century to 1966.

Helping to portray Michigan's contributions to medical advances during the century are special exhibits prepared by the University of Michigan, Wayne State University, the Department of Public Health, the Michigan Health Council, and the two major Michigan pharmaceutical companies.

One of the popular, education exhibits was provided by the American Medical Association. It is the transparent human figure with a panel of buttons keyed to various organs and muscles which light up as the appropriate button is pressed.

Michigan's medical education is traced from the founding of the University of Michigan Medical School in 1850, and from the founding of Harper Hospital in Detroit in 1888 as the forerunner of the present Wayne State University Medical School to the new developments at Michigan State University.

The work of the Michigan Department of Public Health in protecting the health of the public is told in one of the exhibits.

Contributions of both The Upjohn Company of Kalamazoo and the Parke, Davis & Company, Detroit, are recorded — Upjohn for its development of "Orinase," and Parke Davis for its chloromycetin development.

The mobile unit, built to MSMS specifications, is loaned to the medical society by the Marlette Coach Company of Marlette.

The Healthmobile is presented by the Michigan State Medical Society, as a highlight of its centennial observance. The doctors of medicine organized the present statewide professional society 100 years ago in Detroit. Its major purposes are to conduct postgraduate medical educational conferences, clinics, seminars, etc., for physicians, and to offer educational activities and projects for the public in the interest of better health.

Area Extension Service Reorganized

Crawford County and Roscommon County combined as an Area in the reorganization this past year in the Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State University. Due to the reorganization and the change from county to area program, these counties now have the educational service of an Extension Home Economist. The Boards of Supervisors in both counties appropriated funds to establish an Extension office which was centrally located for the area at the County Building in Roscommon. This office has been open half days since February 1st, 1966, according to Juanita C. VanValin, Extension home economist.

At the present time, only a Family Living Education program is possible. But the Cooperative Extension Service does educational programming in Natural Resources, Marketing, Agriculture, and 4-H Youth Work.

The primary aims of the Michigan State University - Family Living Education program are: 1. To bring the latest scientific information to families, 2. to help the family adapt to social and economic changes of the community, 3. to help individual members of the family become more productive through better understanding of the community and their relationships to it.

During the 1965-66 year, these aims were furthered by subject matter training for the area homemakers. Household Management was the concern for an all-day meeting at which household cleaning equipment and cleaning products were described and analyzed. Information about household pests were also presented.

Another session involved knitting techniques and needed skills in the choice of color, line, and design for individual wardrobe planning.

"Business Facts for Families" was a lesson to develop awareness of the need of keeping family affairs in order. Information was given about setting up a home business center and simple filing system, and doing family business at the bank and post office.

The types, timing and jargon of sales was presented in a session on "Saving with Sense at Sales". This was to help homemakers interpret and relate available information to clothing choices made by individuals and families, and what they expect of clothing performance.

A meeting about Medicare in cooperation with a Social Security representative, explained aspects of this program to area beneficiaries.

Crucial questions facing women in their home and community roles was the subject of a lesson on the "Role of Women in the Changing Community". Effects of the revolutionary changes in home, farm and community on women's roles were pointed out.

Many area residents participated in these educational meetings; young homemakers, older homemakers, 4-H leaders, and organized study group members. There are 14 organized Extension study groups in this area, with a membership of 200. Representatives from these study groups attended the educational lessons and in turn took the lesson material back to their groups.

Besides the area subject matter training, several other educational programs were held for the Michigan homemakers. These included "College Week for Women" held at Michigan State University. Fifteen area homemakers attended College Week and each person had a choice of 16 classes offered.

Payrolls in County Up 44% in Five Years

(Special to the Avalanche)

NEW YORK—A new, county-by-county tabulation of the nation's business population shows that Crawford County supports a greater number of business firms than do many localities of its size.

Locally, according to a Federal report, there are some 121 separate business establishments — small, medium and large — in operation.

The vigor of the business community has been growing in the past five years or so, despite mergers, automation, strong competition and consolidations.

This is evidenced by the gain achieved in employment, in size of payrolls and in overall business activity.

The facts and figures come primarily from reports released by the Census Bureau, which utilized data supplied by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. They were based on tax reports filed by employers in 1965 under the social security program, listing taxable payrolls for the previous year.

In Crawford County, they show, payrolls reached the highest point ever, $2,980,000.

This was 43.5 per cent more than in 1959, when a similar survey placed the total at $2,076,000.

The increase was greater than that of almost all other parts of the United States, the average being 30.6 per cent in the period. In the State of Michigan, the gain was 31.9 per cent.

The figures take into account all persons receiving wages and salaries from private, non-farm employment covered by social security.

The number of people so employed locally comes to 803.

This is exclusive of domestic workers, members of the armed forces, civilian employees of Federal, state and local governments, farm workers and certain others.

Although Crawford County has a sizeable number of businesses that employ 20 people or more, smaller-size concerns are firmly rooted and constitute the bulk of the business community.

The breakdown released by the Census Bureau shows that there are 77 local establishments that have from 1 to 3 employees each, 26 with from 4 to 7 and 12 with 8 to 19. The rest are larger.

Those with fewer than 20 employees comprise 95 per cent of the total number.

The five-year growth locally coincides with the nation's big boom, which has just celebrated its fifth birthday.

Advice To New Left . . .

John Fischer, editor of Harper's Magazine, who considered himself a radical in his youth, has written what he calls a "Letter to a New Leftist, From a Tired Liberal". It is a thought-provoking commentary on human aspirations and what they sometimes lead to. For example, the youthful present-day radical abhors all power and organization as a matter of principle and yet, as Mr. Fischer shows, both are a necessity. He also shows how some of the radical goals, even when achieved, have a way of going awry. For instance, in the early thirties, he says, "... it seemed self-evident that the quickest route to universal reform was to mustre all the unorganized workers into strong unions. . . . The unions would pressure Congress into a radical remodeling of the economy, so that unemployment would become impossible. . . . Instead of becoming the shock troops of liberalism, the unions . . . quickly petrified into lumps of reaction and special privilege."

Mr. Fischer also enlisted in the farm program of the New Deal. Instead of helping the small farmer, it ended by unintentionally forcing hundreds of thousands of families off the land, giving the biggest subsidies to the big farmers and speeding up the mechanization of agriculture. The end product is still continuing, a river of refugees streaming into the cities. At the same time, American agriculture became the most efficient in history, capable of feeding the hungry of four continents. And speaking of American society generally, Mr. Fischer suggests to the young radical, "You may find it encouraging when you observe for yourself that the established structure is, in fact, far more porous, loose, and pluralistic than you have been taught. . . . In other words, this is still a land of opportunity."

A Classic Case . . .

Recently, a major nickel smelting company was ordered by a U. S. District Judge to reimburse the federal government to the tune of $624,000—including more than $87,000 in interest—for past overcharges. Said the Judge, "This is a classic case of unjust enrichment. From the dates of overpayments, the company has had the use of the government's money."

Without questioning the wisdom or propriety of the decision, The Portland Oregonian observed: "An interesting point might be raised. Consider poor Joe Pungle, the wage earner and taxpayer. Each payday Joe's employer withholds some of his paycheck and hands it over to the government. At tax filing time Joe may find too much of his wages have been withheld, and he may apply for a refund. The government has had use of that overpayment for a considerable time at the best interest rates anyone can get—none. Oregon's Joe Pungles have collected $41,111,954 in refunds in 1966. At a modest return, say six per cent, the interest would have been $2,466,717. How's that for a classic?"

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

July 8, 1943

Jeanette Clough, 12, received a fractured femur of her right leg Tuesday at 6 p. m. when she accidentally collided with an automobile near AuSable View Farm. The car was driven by James Brock of Lincoln Park. She with Elaine Wythe was riding on the right side of the road. The party behind them sounded his horn, frightening the girls and Jeanette hastily tried to avoid the car by going to the left of the road. With her turning out to pass, the bike and car collided. Jeanette was immediately rushed to Mercy Hospital where she was given attention. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clough.

GREAT MONUMENTS

MT. RUSHMORE

The faces are big as were the men. Carved into the eternal granite of Mt. Rushmore (elev. 6200) in the South Dakota Black Hills are the faces of four men from three eras. Nearly two million people come every year to see George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt tower above them; the four faces are proportionate to men 465 feet tall. How high the lives of these men towered above the countrymen in whom they placed their faith can be measured only by the course of the American ideals they built.

... commemorate timeless lives

Just as the lives of these men held together their country, so must your life hold together your family. Your loved ones look to you to build for them the family ideals of comfort, of confidence and of protection. Planning now, through life insurance, can solidify these ideals forever. NOTICE TO WATER USERS

THE CITY IS HAVING DIFFICULTY WITH ITS LARGE WATER WELL. THIS WELL SUDDENLY DROPPED ITS PRODUCTION TO THE POINT THAT IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO HOLD THE WATER PRESSURE.

THE CITY MAKES AN URGENT REQUEST TO ALL WATER USERS TO CONSERVE AS MUCH WATER AS POSSIBLE AND TO DISCONTINUE ALL SPRINKLING UNTIL THIS TROUBLE CAN BE REMEDIED.

HAROLD S. CLIFF
CITY MANAGER

This is your automatic control
on a gas
water heater.

Just turn the tap and get gallons of steaming hot water—automatically all the time, day or night. Cost? You pay no large monthly bill when you heat water with gas. You pay only for the gas you use. And at the same low rate charged for all the gas you use in so many other ways. You get all the hot water you want—and the fast recovery of a gas water heater keeps plenty on tap. There's no more simple, no more economical way to heat water. Switch to gas. Call your plumbing contractor or the gas company.

Michelson Memorial Methodist Church was the scene of the two o'clock wedding Saturday, June 18, 1966 when Miss Donna Jean Fenton became the bride of Mr. Roy Dean Wedge, Jr., in a double-ring ceremony performed by the Reverend John W. Smith before one hundred fifty guests. Mrs. Frank Frinkle presided at the organ, and Miss Anne Marie Church sang "Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer". Donna is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Fenton of 501 Lake Street, Grayling, and Roy the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Wedge, Sr. of Lake Margrethe. Baskets of peonies, chrysanthemums and carnations and two seven-branched candelabra formed the setting for the wedding party.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of silk mist taffeta fashioned with wrist-point sleeves, bateau neckline and fitted bodice. Alencon lace graced her floor-length sheath style skirt which was highlighted by a detachable bouffant train falling to chapel length. A matching lace-edged mantilla completed her attire. She carried a bouquet of red and white roses. Around her neck was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Carol Jane Fenton, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Other attendants were Miss Nancy Ray Fenton, sister of the bride, Miss Karen Wedge, sister of the bridegroom and Mrs. Lary Gust. They were identically attired in blue floor-length dresses with soft satin-faced crepe skirts and bonded lace bodices. They wore matching blue lace mantillas and carried bouquets of blue and white carnations. Little Miss Lillian Rauch was flower girl. She wore a floor-length tulle dress with tiny pink tulle flowers and carried a basket of assorted blossoms.

David Fisher of Livonia acted as best man. Groomsman and ushers were Frederic Richter of Detroit, Lary Gust of Grayling and Harry Ruggles of Benton Harbor.

Mrs. Fenton wore a blue crepe sheath with lace coat, white accessories and a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Wedge chose a beige knit suit with gold accessories. Her corsage was of blue carnations. Grandmothers Mrs. Effend Alspaugh of Omer and Mrs. Ira Jackson of Detroit wore pink and blue carnation corsages.

A reception was held in the church parlors following the wedding. Peonies provided the decorative touch here too. Mrs. Clarence Gross cut and served the three-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Gene Rauch served the punch. Mrs. Stanley Jopson of Detroit and Mrs. George Morris of St. Petersburg, Florida poured the coffee. Miss Toni Madsen and Miss Sharon Williams were in charge of the gift table.

Following a honeymoon in northern Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Wedge are at home at 1010 1/2 31st Street, Bay City, Michigan.

Donna is a 1963 graduate of Grayling High, attended Central Michigan University for one and a half years and graduated from Northeastern School of Commerce in Bay City in June of this year. Roy graduated from Grayling High in 1964 and is a junior at Houghton Technological University, Houghton, Michigan.

Here to attend the wedding and reception were guests from Florida, Detroit, Livonia, Farmington, Mancelona, Coloma, McMillan, Newberry, Lovells, Cedar Springs, Muskegon, Benton Harbor, Mount Pleasant, Rockford, St. Louis and Alma.

Bill Tufts reported on the success of the Indiana National Guard Band Concert held two weeks ago. He announced that the Michigan National Guard Band Concert would take place on Wednesday, June 23rd, in front of the Crawford County Court House.

Manager Longworth reported on the Tourist Council meeting, and gave a report on travel shows, the cost of such shows, and the advisability of Grayling participating in such shows.

Manager Longworth reported that the Grayling Township Board had approved a zoning ordinance with certain stricter amendments to be added as soon as possible.

The board went on record on being pleased that the Township Board had taken such action.

Manager Longworth reported on a planned news release by the North Eastern Michigan Tourist Association as to the fact that August will be a good month for traveling tourists and vacationers due to the fact that there will be no National Guard encampments in Grayling during that month. So accommodations will be readily available to those people traveling in our area.

Delinquent memberships were discussed. Tabled to be discussed when more board members are present.

Motion by Tufts, seconded by Kraus, that this meeting be adjourned.

Activities of the Local Kiwanis Club

By Bruce Carlson

Many times we in the Kiwanis Club hear things such as "What does the Kiwanis Club do?" or "Where do they spend all the money they make?" or "How do they raise their funds for their projects?" The object of this article is to answer these questions.

First it must be remembered that the Kiwanis Club of Grayling is part of Kiwanis International, a service organization. The local club meets each Monday evening at 6:15 p. m. at the Chief Shoppenagons Motor Hotel for a dinner meeting. At these dinner meetings fellow ship is stressed and the planning for service projects is done. The cost of administration of the club is borne by the club members dues so that all funds raised by their projects are used for service.

At a recent meeting of the club, the annual financial report was presented for the past year's operation and the 1966 budget was approved. The following highlights will give an idea of the scope of service projects carried on by the club.

The largest project by far is the club's program of help for children. Last year nearly $500 was used to make necessary repairs to children's teeth. Under this program, the school nurse recommends to club those who need treatment and these children are treated by the local dentists who cooperate in the program. A similar program is supported for those who need glasses and eye care.

A more familiar project which Kiwanis supports is the School Milk Program. Under this program any child in the grade school who needs help is provided with milk for his lunch and/or snack. This program costs nearly $150 per year.

Another program which the Kiwanis Club sponsors is the Christmas Basket program. With the help of Mr. Wesley Kumpia and his shop classes, donated toys are re-conditioned during the year and made ready for Christmas. At that time baskets are packed with toys, clothes, food and candy so that no child in Crawford County will be forgotten. These are delivered on Christmas Eve by Kiwanians who donate their time and cars. This program requires approximately $100 per year.

Each year the Kiwanis Club sponsors and supports a young man from the high school to attend Wolverine Boys State at Michigan State University. By attending and participating in this program a young man learns the operation of government from the township level to the state level. This program costs approximately $85 each year.

The past several years, the Kiwanis Club has supported the Student Exchange Program to the extent of $150 per year. The Little League Baseball is supported by funds and by members who work as coaches, umpires, etc.

The drive by the High School Band for new uniforms was supported by a contribution as well as financial aid to the High School Glee Club.

Last year saw the first young man sent to the Michigan United Conservation Club Camp by the Kiwanis Club. Another young man is being supported this year.

A program that all the Kiwanis Clubs in Michigan support is the Forney Clement Fund. This fund provides schooling and therapy treatment for children who are hospitalized at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor and at the Mary Freebed Hospital in Grand Rapids. Those who have had children in either of these hospitals know the value of this project.

A program of providing hearing aids for needy persons is also supported by the local club. Through this program, discarded or unneeded hearing aids are re-conditioned by a center down-state and then are made available to those who cannot afford them. Anyone who has a hearing aid which they aren't using and wish to donate are asked to contact Don Jansen or any club member.

All these foregoing projects represent a total cash expenditure of over $1,200 plus many, many man-hours of hard work.

Some projects are purely service projects where the biggest item given is man hours. The most recent example of this was the chicken barbecue which the Kiwanis Club in cooperation with other groups provided for the Skin Divers who worked cleaning up the AuSable River.

These, briefly, are the highlights and expense of the projects. Now a quick look at how this money is raised. The chicken-barbecues, which are put on the Fourth of July and Labor Day are fund raising projects as is the bi-annual Trade Show. Other projects are used from time to time to raise funds for the support of these service projects.

It is hoped that this brief look will make the community more aware of the service program of the local Kiwanis Club of Grayling. With this knowledge, any man wishing to become a part of this service group and to give of his time and talents is invited to become a member.

Before you move in know the facts about insurance

Fact 1: Fire insurance alone on home and contents is not enough. Your home could be destroyed by windstorm, explosion or other hazard.
Fact 2: Theft coverage of your possessions, at home and away, should be included.
Fact 3: A lawsuit judgment against you could cost you everything you own. You need liability insurance.
Fact 4: You get all this and more in one Homeowners policy... with one low premium!

Working Women On Rise in County

(Special to the Avalanche)

NEW YORK—In Crawford County, the chances of finding a housewife at home between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. are slimmer than ever.

If she is not there, she is probably doing what 25 million other women in the United States are doing these days — working in an office, store, manufacturing plant or engaged in some technical or professional activity.

Not that she has resigned her other job, that of wife and mother. She is handling both. Managing the two takes a bit of doing, but she is aided by the vast array of modern labor-saving devices and equipment that makes short work of household chores. In addition, there is the variety of prepared and semi-prepared foods that enable her to turn out a meal in jig time.

Government figures show that the proportion of women in the local labor force is rising, except among those under age 25.

On the basis of the latest national studies, made by the Department of Commerce and the Bureau of Labor Statistics, some 35.4 per cent of Crawford County's female population over age 14 are now employed.

The proportion is larger than in most sections of the United States, where the average is 33.2 per cent. It is 32.9 per cent in the East North Central States.

Because of the steady increase in the number of women in the nation's labor force, the country is now at the point where one-third of all jobs are held by women. Many of them, however, work only part time.

The trend has been most marked among married women, especially those in the upper age groups. They have more time on their hands because their children are old enough to be on their own.

The Labor Department's study shows a 78 per cent rise in the last 15 years in the number of working women over age 45. In the 25 to 44 age groups, the rise has been 22 per cent.

In Crawford County, in the six years since 1960, when the last census was taken, the proportion of working women has continued to edge upward.

New Facilities, Methods, Staff For Mental Health

PROGRESS
New facilities, improved methods and added staff have combined in the past few years to put the Michigan Mental Health Department in a relatively good position regarding patient care in all but one area of concern.

One of the biggest laments heard in recent years was that waiting lists for commitment to mental hospitals are out of hand. At several times there were reported to be as many as 1,500 people awaiting care, including mentally ill children, adults and court-committed criminals.

The most recent report available from the department now indicates the waiting list of mentally ill children has been cut down to 250. This is still a seemingly interminable wait if you know someone on the list, but it represents real progress. Comparable adult figures stand at around 225, as of early this year.

Coupled with these sharp cuts in the formal waiting lists is word from the department that emergencies can be met now.

There have been times when judges were pounding on the Governor's door seeking help to get committed criminals into mental hospitals. They cannot be kept in many local detention facilities because of the lack of segregated facilities required.

The department says three of the mental hospitals serving adults have no waiting lists and all are able to admit emergency cases without delay.

Care for retarded children is a different and discouraging story. Despite a sharp increase in the number of people served in this area, the waiting list remains high.

Waiting list for retarded, with the opening of new buildings and the addition of more than 300 beds during the 1964-65 fiscal year, decreased 12 per cent. This lowered it from 1,782 to 1,577.

Perhaps because of increased consciousness of various problems of the retarded, the waiting list out didn't last. By the first part of this year the waiting list had climbed again to almost 1,700.

Most of Michigan Outdoors flew into the Grayling airport on Saturday for pictures which will be shown on his program July 14th.

SWAMPED
Despite a much heavier workload in the early weeks of the 1966 session, legislators are again faced with the same log jam as in previous years.

There had been hopes that the carry-over provision of the Constitution, which allowed last year's unfinished proposals to be considered this session, would have averted the annual downpour when the various deadlines occurred.

When the deadline for reporting bills from committee arrived, several hundred measures were placed on the calendar in each house where they could live for only three weeks. The next deadline was preceded by nearly marathon daily meetings.

One veteran lawmaker accurately described the situation facing him and his colleagues: "We have the vehicles here to do just about anything we want to do."

In other words, enough bills had been introduced and given tentative committee approval to enable amendment of almost any given portion of Michigan's many laws. All the legislature needs to change a certain law is to have a portion of it before them in printed form.

Unbelievable as it may sound to those totally unfamiliar with the legislative process, committees did cull about 1,000 bills before the reporting deadline occurred.

Procedural changes are being considered which might avert this shotgun approach to lawmaking in the future.

Legislative spokesmen say beefing up the staff of the Legislative Service Bureau, which writes the bills on request, and reactivation of an advisory council for the bureau can help to avoid duplication of bills introduced.

This in itself would eliminate a good number of the original count, since some legislators will request a bill, even knowing it has already been introduced, simply to be able to report to constituents that they introduced it.

There is considerable room for improvement in this and other facets of the process if the Michigan legislature is to come up to its intended image as a 20th Century operation.
